OUTLOOK

The following statements are forward looking, and actual results may differ materially

Assuming further recovery of economic activity and accelerating orders to sales conversion toward the end of the year, management is confident that sales for the year will show a marked increase versus last year with a full year EBITDA margin higher than the first semester EBITDA margin.

"I am confident that Barco will continue to generate steady improvements as markets further recover and office re-openings accelerate while continued supply chain disruptions may temper the acceleration. The first half performance confirms also our ‘Say.Do’ related to our operational execution, our sustained customer focus and continued progress in strengthening our competitive position by expanding and renewing our product offerings.”
